Unique Plan Of Union Pacific For Publicity

Offer One Issue of Magazine to Torrance For $1000

A delegation from the Hermosa Beach Chamber of Commerce, consisting of the secretary and two directors, attended the directors' meeting here last Tuesday and presented their plan for the grand carnival to be held next month at Hermosa. They asked for a queen candidate from Torrance to represent this city at the carnival. After consideration it was decided to take no action in the matter due to the fact that in a very short time the local American Legion will probably have several queen contestants in the field for the 1923 Fiesta to be held here in July or August. A representative from the advertising department of the Union Pacific was introduced and a very unique and beneficial plan for advertising Torrance was explained. The entire publication of the Arrowhead Magazine for the month of July, carrying photographic scenes, descriptive matter of this city, together with 1500 free copies was offered for $1000; 38,500 additional copies would be distributed on trains to those who travel to California. While the proposition appealed strongly to the directors, everyone realizing the great benefit its use would derive from the publication, it was thought best to defer action for several days until the secretary could learn if the money could be guaranteed. While the total cost to Torrance would be only $1000 it would take several thousands of dollars to print the magazine and distribute 40,000 copies.

A committee of three consisting of G. W. Neill, Chas. LeBoeuff and J. W. Post was appointed to confer with the directors of the chamber to see if another hour for the weekly meetings could be arranged that would be more suitable to the majority.

Discussion over the question of accepting the offer of Chas. Vonderahe to move the offices of the Chamber of Commerce to the Vonderahe building, corner of Carson and Cabrillo, resulted in a division of opinion. Action was deferred until next meeting when it will probably be settled or else put up to the forum for decision.
